Dominion Line... Royal Mail Steamships

THE STEAMERS OF THIS COMPANY are Full Powered, First-class Passenger Vessels, sailing between Portland, Me., and Liverpool, during the winter (28th November to 1st May), and between Montreal and Quebec, Canada, and Liverpool, during the summer (1st May to 21st November). The Saloons are large, airy, and amidships, thus insuring the greatest of all luxuries at Sea—Perfect Ventilation and Light. In winter the Steamers leave Portland, Thursdays at 1 P. M., and in summer they leave Montreal every Saturday morning at daylight, so that passengers may enjoy the beautiful trip down the St. Lawrence in daylight. Most of these days are spent in the smooth waters of the River and Gulf, leaving only four days at Sea, which is a great comfort to those who suffer from sea-sickness. RATES OF PASSAGE: First Cabin, $52.50 and upward, according to Steamer and berth. Return, $100 and upward. Second Cabin, $34 to $40. Return, $66.75 to $75. ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀

'97 Class History.

IT was on the 18th of September, 1893, that Mother Phillips was given the task of inventing a name for a gathering of slim-legged, frightened infants. With astonishing boldness she named it a Class, and that the Class of '97. This class, however, was promptly christened "Preps" by the rest of the school.

These "Preps" soon showed their athletic prowess in having Pierson on the football team, and Parker, who won the tennis singles from Exeter, and in the doubles, aided by Prentiss, easily defeated our New Hampshire rivals.

During the Junior Middle year '97 abolished the old cane rush, substituting for it the now famous baseball games. During the class meeting held in reference to the abolition of the cane rush, an orator of great promise was developed, but he has since transferred his bursts of eloquence to '98's class meetings.

Ninety-seven was again well represented on the football team, boasting of four men and one substitute.

The time for the baseball game with '96 soon came around, and such a scene as the old campus never before saw was enacted there in June, 1895. Both classes were assembled in full force, and every one was provided with some instrument for making noise. Ninety-seven made a grand success in that part of the game, for one would have thought that all the inmates of the Danvers Asylum were holding high carnival. Ninety-five ably seconded the class with a battery of small cannon and a brass band; but notwithstanding all the efforts, '96 succeeded in carrying off the championship by the score of 13-10.

On June 11, 1895, we saw Lawrenceville dismissed from the campus with a large-sized goose egg to their credit; while Andover, largely through the magnificent pitching of Sedgewick, one of '97's numerous athletes, rolled up eleven runs.

Throughout the Middle year '97 maintained her high stand in athletics, but unfortunately she was unable to win from '98 in the spring. This defeat was largely due to the fact that all her best baseball players were on the first team, for five of the members of the class were representing Old Phillips on the diamond.

The whole class took its usual prominent part in the nightshirt parade, which is claimed to have been the greatest part of the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Andover.

During the spring term the old Co-op scheme was once more resurrected, but by the valiant efforts of '97 and a few other members of the school it was once more hurried back to the shelf, where it will probably remain until it is again thrown upon the tender mercies of the school.

Ninety-seven began her career as Seniors by instituting several new schemes into the school, and re-establishing some of the old customs laid aside by previous classes. In all these she has met with great success.

In the establishment of the Class Handicap Track Games, the advantage of the plan was immediately seen, for the entries were larger than in any previous Handicap Meet. And in this '97 easily defeated the under classes and won the cup, which is now to be seen in the trophy case.

The Class Book is another of the innovations introduced by the class, and bids fair to become an established publication by succeeding classes.

The greatest of all of '97's successes is the renewal of the athletic contests with our old rival, Exeter; this was brought about by the members of the class on the Athletic Advisory Committee.

Another of the old customs re-established is that of making a present to the school, which was discontinued by '94.

November 14th saw the first of the renewed games with Exeter, and Old Phillips once more came out victor by the magnificent score of 28-0.

The cup offered by P. S., '97, for the best individual playing against Exeter, was awarded to F. L. Quinby, '98.

It will thus be seen that '97's career as Seniors has been one of the most useful that the school has seen for many years, and that the stained glass window that the class is to present to the school as a companion to the '93 class present, will be a fitting memorial of the benefits she has wrought for the school on the hill.

'98 Class History.

I HAD prepared a short sketch of my own life and an invocation to the gods. These must be omitted, as they were lost. My deep and heartfelt sympathy is extended to the reader.

Ninety-eight's history for this year consists of three things: the Rally, the Track Meet, and the Class Meeting.

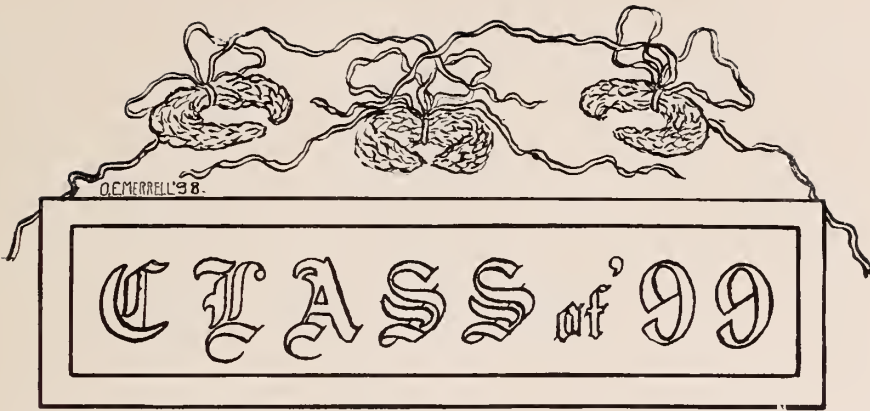

First comes the Rally. We cannot describe this fully, so we will pass by the start, by the march, and by the Townhall. We will also ignore the Rally proper, as this is not class history. After the Rally we assembled outside, and went to the "Fem-Sem." On our arrival there we found '97 in possession, intending to keep us out. Our first plan was to drive through. But this was abandoned because of the driver's objections, also those of the horses. Then there arose a dispute as to our next move. It was proposed by those in the wagon that the men on foot clear the way, while they would ride in after us, greatly to '98's glory. Another proposition, that all go on foot, met with more favor, and was generally adopted. We all rushed forward, and by dint of hard clubbing forced our way in. After this '97 left, we cheered, and went to the campus.

Next came the Fall Meet. I will not describe this, as I cannot hope to rival the Phillipian; a publication noted for its correct accounts and for the thoughtful manner of mailing copies free to subscribers. However, I will mention the fact that '97 received six of '98's points,—five in the Shot Put and one in the Mile Run.

Following this, comes the Class Meeting. After the meeting had stood open for business the president read in truly dramatic style a challenge from '99. Shortly a committee was appointed to respond, and the real struggle began. A motion to elect the captain by the squad was put. During the debate it was urged that too much power was left in the captain's hands. One gentleman in the back of the room said that these remarks were entirely uncalled for, as he was going to nominate a man who would not pull wires. That gentleman's face after election was a study. A few remarks followed this, and the motion was carried. A captain and managers were then chosen. After this we adjourned to dinner.

So ends the history of our Class.

'99 Class History.

WELL, '99! Here we are at the end of our second year. How much we knew when we first came here! But how little we know now! Remember how we trembled as we sat in chapel that first morning, and the Doctor delivered to us his words of greeting and of warning. Little did we realize as we went to the Registrar's office that "those who entered there left hope behind." It is amusing to think how Mr. E—— inspired us with awe as we watched him cover the boards with his mathematical prodigies, while "King P." rushed us through Comstock's at a rate that made our young brains whirl. But we have come through with amazing success, much glory, and Lewis W. Nute.

Now we are no longer "Preps," but Junior Middlers. For several months we have been able to look down upon the babies of 1900. What we will do to '98 will soon be seen. We began his year with some sad losses, for several of our men decided that they could crown their reports with more A's if they would take up the studies of 1900. As the Faculty was willing nothing more could be done, and we lost them. We have lost also our Latin shark, the fat boy from Turkey.

It is wonderful how the demand for good sound horses has increased in the past year. They are mostly of Roman breed crossed with Anglo-Saxon. Statistics show that '99 has in its ranks a large percentage of the skillful riders of the school.

In German class little of interest is to be mentioned, excepting, perhaps, the bold rushes by Douglas and Webb, a twenty-minute cut by Mr. Newton, and the accuracy of the aforesaid Nute's der die or das.

In athletics we have done nothing more, as yet, than to cheer for '97. But our class has been represented in football and in track athletics. We expect, however, now that we are allowed, to do more or less this year. For the team which is to challenge '98 in baseball, we have elected Ferris, P. A., captain, and Elliot, P. S., first manager.

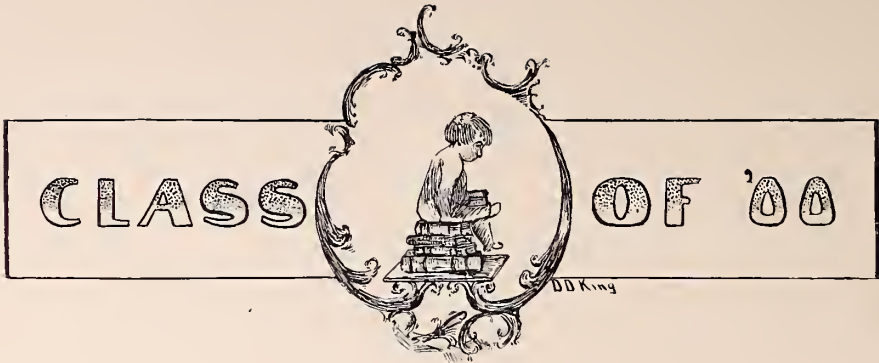

We have been very quiet as to class meetings until last fall. Then came some stormy meetings. First the question of class pins was argued. This seemed a difficult problem to solve, for after a long and noisy discussion, in which were noticeable the brainy arguments by Lucas, the meeting was adjourned. At the next meeting the pin question was entirely lost in the excitement over the election of officers for the class baseball team, with foregoing results.

It is all very well to have a lively boy in class; but when he makes it his business to use his classmates for door mats, and to make himself fresh generally, it ceases to be a good joke. (Mr. G., please take notice.)

Such is the brief history of '99. Like all other classes we have our faults and our troubles, but there is much yet to be heard from us, for we have many among us whom I have not mentioned. These will become known sooner or later by their good works and excellent qualities. The time will come when they will be looked up to as honored men, and their names will do credit to the rolls of Phillips Academy.

“Prep” Class History.

NOW it came to pass upon the sixteenth day of the ninth month of the second year of the consulship of Peter Dugan, that the Class of '99 turned to a comely youth who had newly become a Junior, and regarded him with contempt, saying unto him:—

“Why are ye come to perturb my reflections with thy pranks? Go to, now, for am I not a Junior Middler, while thou art but a Prep?” For the aforesaid Ninety-nine, as having but recently bettered his own condition, was disposed to consider Nineteen Hundred with much scorn, that his own worth might be the more exalted and magnified thereby, as was fitting. And it came to pass, also, that Ninety-eight, who chanced to be passing by in stiff-necked majesty, was pleased to notice the stripling, and spake unto himself:—

“By the beard of the Prophet, but this boy is diminutive in stature, and seemeth a runt, withal. And his verdantness and general state of unsophistication doth concern me greatly, yet, by Allah, it seemeth to me that he can flay Ninety-nine when he becometh a Junior Middler.” For Ninety-eight loved not Ninety-nine. And then came Ninety-seven, resplendent with stately grace and beauty, and much perfected as to understanding. And Ninety-seven first gazed awhile, and then spake he with his face, saying words like to these:—

“Methinks 'tis passing strange, and of interest, withal, to look upon this stripling. For he seemeth exceeding small, and now doth receive much of calumny. And he is as one who lacketh the comprehension of his own shortcomings, and vaunteth himself. But look ye how Niuty-nine, who hath himself a surfeit of sportiveness, and taketh much evil from the influence of one Ellioticus, doth scorn this boy, who seemeth to me not so inferior to him, withal. And Ninety-eight seemeth to hold himself as one much advanced in learning, or as one who considereth himself like unto the only pebble on the strand of the sea, whereas, in verity, he hath not as yet mastered the geometry of Petteus, the Prator. Now, verily, I remember not when I was possessed of so little wisdom as is this youth, and yet it behooveth me to regard his shortcomings with compassion, for surely he hath good parts. Is not one of these, who acteth much, like unto Sir Henry Irving in the flexibility of his legs, and does not another claim relationship with Professor Benedictus, whose fame and repute went much abroad of yore? And, by my sooth, he hath many tribulations and perils to overcome, for must he not encounter Hircus, the Goat; the Major so-called; the Co-op, and the sermons of Professor Sdeath? Selah!"

And now Ninety-seven spake no more publicly, for seeing that Nineteen Hundred walked alone he hastened to speak with him apart, and straightway induced him to subscribe to ten shares of stock in the Class Book, so called, so that peradventure he might be elected to the committee at what time he should arrive at years of discretion.

There’s a certain thing in Andover
The bane of many a life;
It causes lots of trouble,
It stirs up lots of strife.

It’s dreaded, shunned, avoided,
As if ’twere some terrible curse,
Or some restless shade from Hades,
Or something even worse.

But yet ’tis by no means dreadful,
In spite of what one sees,
In spite of the misery it causes
To many a life of ease.

Sometimes ’tis very majestic,
More often it’s very stern,
But the times that it’s gay and jolly
Are few and far between.

It meets you in the schoolroom,
It braves you on the street,
It’s quite impossible to escape it,
However swift your feet.

It comes around in the morning,
 It visits you by noon;
 In the quiet of the evening
 It gently taps at your room.

It's almost always the case
 When by night it roams,
 If the fellows know its intention,
 It doesn't find them at home.

Now what is the cause of this trouble?
 Perhaps you've already dreamed;
 'Tis a very harmless creature;
 'Tis only—a subscription fiend.

MR. TERRILL'S SONG.

“O give me but my garden and my Greek.”

In robes of white,
Through the night,
Two ghostly columns creep.

Torches bright,
Shed their light,
Where fair Fem-Sems sleep.

Like a flash,
The columns crash,
Then for broken heads they weep.

Fem-Sems fair,
In the glare,
With posts of safety blest,

Wonder when
The strife will end,
That they again may rest.

But soon the night
Shuts out the light,
And earth in robes of black is drest.

Next morn at prayers,
"Banty" swears,
That all this valiant host,
Must not again
Commit this sin,
Lest some indeed be lost.

THE FACULTY.

We have a goodly Faculty
As ever yet was seen;
They all are noble men and true,
As you'll admit, I ween.

First our sprightly Doctor
Heads the list so long,
Trying to mould each soul he touches
Into glorious shape and form.

And next to him is George Pettecé,
Our lordly Registrar,
Who, trusting in his power so great,
Exults in “petty” war.

Then handsome Charlie Forbes,—
A Latin shark is he;
As great a favorite with the boys,
As a Prof. could possibly be.

And then there's good old “Gravy”
(A ripe old soul's within),
With his pushes, and pulls, and forces,
That make the world for him.

Then comes "Weary" Boynton,
Who teaches English here,
With his windy, turgid phrases
To make his meanings clear.

Then there's "Archie" Freeman,
Witty, sarcastic, and wise;
When his blue eyes flash at his pupils,
They tremble as if for their lives.

And next is Mr. Benner;
A Greek at heart is he,
Who reads and writes the language
Like a native-born Ἑλλήνη free.

To them be added McCurdy;
Our popular Prof. is he,
And withal as good a fellow
As one could wish to see.

We must not omit Pop Eaton,
Nimble, bewhiskered, petit,
Who gives the fairest markings,
And makes explanations so neat.

And then there's Mr. Terrill,
Named Goat in the days of yore;
He is full of old chestnuts,
Which he's sprung on us o'er and o'er.

And Stone, our French instructor,
With silv'ry voice so clear;
'Tis thought he'll be able to sing some
In the course of another year.

Now, there's Walter Newton,—
He teaches only Deutsch;
But he's a very good man for a teacher,
And is quite a success as such.

We wish to speak of Phillips,
For a splendid fellow is he;
Keen, and clever, and gracious,
He'll make something yet, you'll see.

As for genial Jamie Graham,
There's nothing else to say
Except that where'er you find him
He's always jolly and gay.

To come to F. E. Newton :
He's quite a "fiery" man ;
To help the boys keep moving,
He does just all he can.

In regard to Dr. Bunn
We hardly know what to say,
For he's quite an enigma at best,
But perhaps he'll be solved some day.

Now for Mr. Allen,
With his firm, intelligent head ;
He's quiet, pleasant and kind,
Just like his brother Fred.

Our Robert S. McClenahan,
In truth, we've not forgot,
And though he's not so bad in class,
He never gave a cut.

Then there's Mr. Lewis ;
He's an assistant, 'tis true,
But not too small to be mentioned,
As here we wish to do.

And lo ! the form of Churchill,
Full fit to bring up the rear,
The portliest, jolliest Prof.
Of any we have here.

And now we'll end the description
Of all this noble band,
Who rule supremely o'er us,
And at times with pitiless hand.

And if these hasty wordings
Should some of them offend,
Why, let them remember the adage,
And take as good as they send.

A Wooden Box with a Pin Hole at one end and a groove for holding a glass plate at the other, will take a picture—after a fashion. With slight modifications this box becomes a "camera." It takes a fair siçe picture and sells for a small sum. That's one kind of Camera.

Another kind has the Film Cartridge system, by which it can be Loaded in Daylight. Has carefully tested lenses. We test all those used in our cameras, and none but good lenses can pass our inspection. Has sets of three stops, improved rotary shutters, finders and tripod sockets, is well made and beautifully finished. That's the Kodak kind.

Pocket Kodaks, Bullets, and Bulls=Eyes

Have these features. Pocket Kodaks and Bullets use either film cartridges or glass plates. Other cameras do not have these features—we hold the patents.

ESTABLISHED 1818.

BROOKS BROTHERS,

Broadway, cor. 22d Street, New York City.

Clothing and Furnishing Goods, Ready-made and Made to Measure.

Spring and Summer, 1897.

Knickerbocker Suits
for Bicycling and Golf,
Ready made and to order.
Scotch Long Hose.

Red Golf Coats, Pea
Jackets of Elysians and Pilots for Exercise.

Sweaters in all Weights and Colors, "Shakers," and the genuine Shetland and Fair Isle Flakes.

Riding Breeches and Trousers, reinforced or plain.

Pigskin Leggings,
Highland Gaiters, etc.

Covert Coats, Serge,
Silk, or Wool Lined.

Bath Gowns, Towels,
Sheets and Mats.

In our Spring and Summer Stock, now ready in all departments, we desire to call special attention to our Knickerbocker Suits. They are made from both fancy Scotch Mixtures and genuine Isle of Harris Tweeds.

The latter being hand woven by the Crofters, is especially adapted, in color and fabric, for Golf, Bicycle, and general outing purposes.

Since many of the cloths are confined to us, we guarantee exclusive styles, and take pains to limit the striking patterns to small quantities.

Our stock of Scotch Long Hose, for men and boys, is also very large and varied, with the same attention given to exclusiveness of color and designs.
